

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE WAS GIVEN TO CONGRESS TODAY

CONTAINS NEARLY FORTY THOUSAND WORDS.

SESSION MUCH TOO SHORT

To Accomplish All That Is Asked For By the Chief Executive in Way of Legislation.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Congress gave respectful attention to the president's message today, but there were comparatively few members willing to concede the probability of any favorable action at present session of the many recommendations. The general opinion was the time would not permit of action in view of the fact that the session will close March 4th.

The message was delivered to both houses soon after they convened at noon, the usual ceremonies being observed.

Taft's message today equalled the longest message of his predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt, who held the record. Both documents contained nearly 40,000 words.

Treasurer's Report.
Showing little opportunity for retrenchment in the departmental appropriations the estimates of the Secretary of the Treasury for funds needed to conduct the government for the year ending June 30, 1912, were transmitted to Congress today. The estimates, in which will be found the bills appropriating the departmental budgets, aggregated $748,414,861, and showed a total increase over the estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, of $3,347,363. The estimates for 1912 omit any provision for the deficiency in postal revenues which in the 1911 estimates was $10,634,122.

Presidential Nominations.
The president today nominated John W. Garrett of Maryland, to be minister to Venezuela; Frederick W. Lehman of New York, to be collector general; John C. Ames, collector customs, Chicago; and Julius S. Starr, surveyor of customs, Peoria, Illinois.

New Senator.
Immediately after the convening of the senate today, the oath of office was administered to Claude A. Swanson, successor to Senator Daniel of Virginia; Joseph M. Turrell, successor to Clay of Georgia; and La Fayette Young, successor to Doolittle of Iowa.

The Message.
In his message Taft reviews the work of each of the administrative departments beginning with the state department. He devotes considerable space to the satisfactory settlement of the fisheries dispute with England through the medium of the Hague Tribunal, and recounts both the history of the fisheries dispute and the establishment of the tribunal.

In connection with the state department he tells of the important political happenings of the past twelve months throughout the entire world, and the action of this country in connection with them.

Tariff Negotiations.
Referring to the negotiation of new tariff agreements President Taft says: "The new tariff law, in Section 2, respecting the maximum and minimum tariffs of the United States, which provisions came into effect on April 1, 1910, imposed upon us responsibility of determining prior to that date whether any undue discrimination existed against the United States and its products in any country of the world with which we sustained commercial relations."

"In the case of several countries instances of apparent undue discrimination against American commerce were found to exist. These discriminations were removed by negotiation. Prior to April 1, 1910, when the maximum tariff was to come into operation with respect to importations from all those countries in whose favor no proclamation applying the minimum tariff should be issued by the president, one hundred and thirty-four such proclamations were issued."

"This series of proclamations embraced the entire commercial world and hence the minimum tariff of the United States has been given universal application, thus testifying to the satisfactory character of our trade relations with foreign countries."

"Marked advantages to the commerce of the United States were obtained through these tariff settlements."

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Rockfield, N. D., Dec. 6.—The venerable Dr. Alfred L. Higgs, principal of the Santee Normal Training School and who is famous for his missionary work among the Indians, received many congratulations today on the occasion of his seventy-third birthday anniversary.

PROTEST ADOPTION OF RUGBY FOOTBALL

Alumni and Students of the University of Wisconsin Are Vigorous in Protest Against English Game.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 6.—That a protest of serious proportions against the adoption of the University of Wisconsin of Rugby football will be made to the regents of that institution, is indicated by a large syndicate of letters with prominent alumni published in the State Journal this afternoon. Supporters of intercollegiate athletics and especially of football among the resident alumni are loud in their denunciation of the faculty athletic council and Director of Athletics George Ehler for the movement inaugurated by them in the introduction of a resolution to investigate the game at the "big eight" conference in Chicago, indicative of the sentiment of the alumni here is the statement of Dr. Joseph Dean, older brother of the captain of this year's football team, himself a star end of a few years ago, who declared that "the average athlete will not take up the flag by either another well known American boy." There is now talk of mass meetings, "round robins" and even memorials to the legislature on the subject and the feeling here against the proposed experiment is growing more intense each day.

MINISTERS ASSEMBLE FOR A CONFERENCE

One Hundred Divines and Laymen Attend the Big Gathering.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 6.—Over 100 ministers and other delegates were present at Association Hall, at the university, Monday afternoon when the first Wisconsin interdenominational conference was opened. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Wisconsin Federation of Churches and Christian Workers and will probably be held annually. Welcoming addresses were made by Rev. Vernon S. Phillips for the Madison Ministers' association, Dean E. A. Birge for the university, acting for President Van Hise, who is in Georgia attending the funeral of his mother, and by Secretary of State J. A. Frear.

The message from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America was brought by Rev. C. E. Bacon of Chicago, secretary of the council for the Middle West. Three hundred twenty-eight denunciations, representing 17,000,000 of the 21,000,000 Protestants in the United States, are in the federation. Its objects, he said, are to enrich the universal church by the excellencies of all the denominations, to secure wonderful cooperation and to simplify the church machinery.

"If in the nation world," he said, "close organizations are needed to meet the impact of the great world religion, in the home holds the most closely knit organizations are necessary to band the giant impact of vice. The federation of churches, is bound by the great and tremendous tasks before it."

The evening addresses were by Rev. Frederick Wells, research assistant of the Federal Council, New York, on "The Status of Church Cooperation in the United States," and by President Ozora S. Davis of Chicago Theological seminary, on "The Ideal and Future of Church Cooperation in America."

Large interest by the delegates attaches to an exhibit of religious and social conditions, and the church and betterment activities of Wisconsin.

WATER VERY LOW IN MISSISSIPPI RIVER

River Gauge at Prairie du Chien Is High and Dry and Business Interests Along Stream Are Affected.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Prairie du Chien, Wis., Dec. 6.—The river gauge at the weather bureau station here is high and dry and of water, a condition never before known. The low water is caused by ice gorges in the river above here and above La Crosse. The low water has affected business interests all along the river.

WORKED HOAX ON A BELOIT WOMAN

Letter From Denver Said She Inherited $8,000 From Dead Sister, But She Found It Otherwise.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Beloit, Dec. 6.—Word reached here today that Mrs. Mary J. Hall, who left here thirty days ago for Denver on advice of a letter from Denver stating that a sister had died in that city leaving her $8,000, has found the whole affair to be a hoax. Mrs. Hall had not seen her sister for five years. After a search of Denver she has been unable to find either the attorneys or any news of the sister.

FOR DEVELOPMENT OF THE WATERWAYS

Seventh Annual Convention of National Rivers and Harbors Congress Opens at Washington.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—The seventh annual convention of the Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will be held in this city tomorrow, already gives promise of being the largest and most notable gathering ever assembled in this country in the interest of waterway development. Representatives of commercial organizations and river improvement associations in all parts of the country arrived today in readiness for the opening of the convention.

The congress is national in its purpose, representing all sections and all waterways and it is endeavoring to impress Congress with the necessity of a comprehensive policy for improving rivers, canals and harbors of the nation. The question of an intelligent treatment of these waterway projects has become a national question, and the convention, it is expected, will emphasize its importance by hearty approval of President Taft's position that only meritorious projects receive recognition and that appropriations be kept within reasonable limits to the end that a yearly river and harbor bill may become the fixed policy of the government.

President Taft has accepted an invitation to deliver the opening address to the delegates tomorrow. Probably next in importance to the address of the President will be the speech of Governor Harmon of Ohio, who for some years has been a close student of the question of improved waterways. In addition to these distinguished citizens, others, quite as well known in their several vocations, will deliver addresses before the convention, including Hon. Clifford Sifton, chairman of the Conservation Commission of the Canadian government; Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers of the United States Army; Governor Horace White of New York; Representative Champ Clark of Missouri; and Col. William L. Sibert of the Panama Canal Commission.

SENSATIONAL FIGHT IN BUCKEYE STATE

Democratic Members of Next Ohio Legislature and Leaders of Party in Round-up at Columbus.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Columbus, O., Dec. 6.—Extensively to map out a legislative program, but in reality, it is believed, to discuss the situation in regard to the United States senate, many of the Democratic members of the next legislature and other of the party leaders throughout the State rounded up in Columbus today. The conference is called for tomorrow. When the deliberations of the party leaders are concluded it is expected that it will be possible to form a more definite idea than at present as to the relative strength of the Democrats who aspire to succeed Charles Dick in the United States Senate next March. That Alton Pomeroy, of Canton, and Edward W. Hanley, of Dayton, continue to be most frequently mentioned and the presence of an emissary from Washington is taken as an indication that John R. McLean, the Cincinnati editor, has not relinquished his long-nourished ambition to wear the toga and that he will be in the fight in earnest when the legislature meets next month if he thinks there is a possible chance for him to win.

IMPORTANT POINTS WILL BE DECIDED

Supreme Court Hears Arguments Today in Suit Involving Much Money.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 6.—An aggregate of $229,732.48 and an important legal point is involved in a suit which was argued before the state supreme court this morning. The action is brought by the state to collect from the city of Milwaukee the amount named, which is the total of fines paid to the municipal court at Milwaukee for violations of the state penal code from 1893 to 1909. The case comes to the supreme court on an appeal from the circuit court for Milwaukee county, where the state's claim was upheld. If the state wins in the highest tribunal, this vast sum will go to the state school fund, as provided by law.

Attorneys for city of Milwaukee argued that the claim is outlawed under the statute of limitations, while the state contended that the constitution clearly provides for the payment of such money to the state and that the claim cannot, under any interpretation of the statute of limitations, be considered outlawed.

A. C. Tullis and Russell Jackson of the attorney general's office appeared for the state and W. H. Tullin of Milwaukee, son of Justice Tullin and Norman L. Baker, assistant district attorney of Milwaukee county, for the city of Milwaukee.

ZERO WEATHER IS COMING TONIGHT

Weather Bureau at Washington Sends Out Snow and Ice Bulletin for Wisconsin.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Milwaukee, Dec. 6.—The first national snow and ice bulletin was issued by the government weather bureau today at Washington. Conditions in Wisconsin show the state is entirely covered with an even layer of snow. From three to four inches prevails in the northern half of the state while the southern portion is covered with but one to two inches. This condition is announced a favorable one for vegetation in general, in view of the coming cold weather.

Colder Tonight.
Milwaukee, Dec. 6.—The mercury will fall from ten to thirty degrees below zero in northern Wisconsin tonight, the southern portion to see zero weather or colder, while near the lake region the temperature will not be quite so low, according to government weather bureau officials here today. "Tonight Wisconsin will see its first general zero weather of the season," said Forecaster Devoaux. "The temperature today in the Dakotas is 18 degrees below zero, while in Canada, north of the Dakotas, it has fallen to 28 below."

SAYS DIFFERENCES ARE VERY MARKED

Too Much Criticism Of Local Courts Hurts the Work Effectively.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 6.—Prof. E. B. Keedy of Northwestern University college of law, and a member of the committee which went to England last summer to study the mode of procedure in the trial of criminal cases, prefaced his talk at the Wisconsin law school yesterday afternoon with this statement:

"There has been much criticism of the American procedure, but it has been for the most part of misstatements of our courts and 'blanket' commendations of the English courts. For instance, the critics would have you believe that twenty judges on the King's bench handle all the cases involving grave offenses. The fact is that there are about 100 barristers who do not have the title of Judge, who assist in disposing of these cases."

OLD RIVER PILOT DIED IN OREGON

Captain Henry Goyette, Famous in Early Days on the Mississippi, Passed Away.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

WANDERING "AD-MAN" HAS COME TO GRIEF

D. W. Reid Fell in a Whiskey Fit on Saloon Floor and It Was Feared He Would Die.

D. W. Reid, who has been traveling about the country putting on a newspaper advertising scheme, was seized with a "whiskey fit" in a local saloon yesterday afternoon and fell to the floor. He was removed to the police station where Dr. George Fillel worked over him for a considerable period before there was any certainty that he would recover. Throughout the afternoon the vari-colored tabbits for delirium tremens and other maladies were administered according to directions every hour but the night force got mixed up on directions and simply shook the box and "drew a number," trusting it would be the right one. Sometimes the saffron-colored pill came up and then again it would be the brown, pink, or white—and so on, all through the night. The services of a practical nurse are badly needed at the police station. Reid was pretty shaky but on his feet this morning. He said his evening was in Prospect; his trunk at Madison; and his wife and family at Nebraska City, Neb. He begged pityously for a "cracker" and his freedom. Both were given him on condition that he leave the city without delay.

Ed. Schulenburg and Edward Foley pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness in municipal court this morning and paid, or arranged to pay, fines and costs amounting to $3 each. John Smith and Pat. Murray were unable to pay $3 and went to jail for five days each. "Frank" Watson could not meet a $4 assessment and drew eight days in the bastille.

A SETBACK FOR HEINZE

U. S. SUPREME COURT REVERSES LOWER BODY IN QUASHING CHARGES.

NEW TRIAL IS IMPROBABLE

Counts Sustained Cover Practically Same Transactions Upon Which the New York Banker Was Acquitted—Indictments Are Held Sufficient.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Holding that the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York had erred, the Supreme court of the United States reversed the lower court and held sufficient various counts of indictments charging F. Augustus Heinze with the misappropriation of funds of the Mercantile National bank of New York city, of which he was president. Further proceedings on these counts must now be taken in the lower court.

Indictments Held Good. One of the points on which the lower court held the indictments insufficient was that they did not show a conversion by the recipient of the proceeds of certain notes discounted. After reviewing the previous cases touching on this point, Justice McKenna, in announcing the decision of the court, said:

"It follows that the circuit court erred in considering as necessary not only that there should be alleged a conversion by the officer of the bank, but also of the recipient of the proceeds of the discount. The conversion may be to the use of either, and the indictment fulfills the requirement."

The constitutionality of the act of March 2, 1907, allowing the government an appeal in adverse decisions on preliminary pleas in criminal cases, was upheld by the court, which reiterated the statement that the right of appeal was not "essential to due process of law."

New Trial Unlikely. District Attorney Wise of New York city, when apprised of the decision, expressed himself as gratified that the form in which the indictments were drawn in his office had been upheld.

Mr. Wise would not state positively that Heinze would be tried again, and as the indictments just sustained covered practically the same transactions as those covered in the indictment upon which Heinze was tried and acquitted last spring attorneys who have followed the Heinze cases regarded another trial of the defendant as improbable.

MARKHAM FOR I. C. HEAD, RUMOR

Reports Mention Him as Possible Successor to James T. Harahan.

WILL ADDRESS CLUB ON CITY BOOSTING

Secretary of Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers' Association To Be Guest of Twilight Club.

Mr. William George Bruce of Milwaukee, Secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of that city, and probably the best posted man in Wisconsin on the possibilities and necessities for city boosting, is to be the guest of the Twilight Club at its December meeting, next Tuesday night, when he will speak on the subject "City Promotion and Development." Mr. Bruce has been in correspondence with the officials of the local industrial and commercial club relative to local conditions and has expressed a strong desire to be of any assistance he can at any time in this city's efforts for its greater Janesville. He is an entertaining and convincing speaker and the club is exceedingly fortunate to get such a man to address them. The meeting that evening, December 13th, is to be under the leadership of the members of the Industrial and Commercial Club, at which time reports will be made of the work done by this club and outlines given of some of the things it is planned to try to do the coming year.

The privilege of hearing Mr. Bruce is such a rare one, that the Industrial and Commercial Club members who are not members of the Twilight Club have been extended an invitation to be the guests of the Twilight Club that evening, and a very large attendance is expected.

NEW HAVEN'S HORSE SHOW OPENS TONIGHT.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 6.—Because of the prominence of many of the exhibitors and the large field of prize-winners entered, more than usual interest has been aroused in the fourth annual New Haven horse show, which takes place tonight and tomorrow night at Troop "A" armory. Twenty-five classes are to be judged at the exhibition.

HOLDS THAT WOMEN MAY VOTE.

Tacoma City Attorney Says They Need Not Be Registered.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 6.—City Attorney H. G. Fitch of Stellacoom prepared instructions for the officials at today's "wet or dry" election, the effect of which women must be allowed to vote, whether registered or not. It was not their fault, he declares, that the governor's proclamation of the adoption of woman suffrage was too late to give them a chance to register.

Southern Homeopaths Assemble.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 6.—About 200 physicians, members of the Southern Homeopathic Medical association, gathered in the Windsor hotel this morning for the opening session of their twenty-seventh annual meeting.

THEATRE

"THE SQUAW MAN."

Edwin Milton Roy's drama, "The Squaw Man," comes to Myers Theatre Thursday, December 8, matinee and evening. Mr. Westfield impersonates a "half-breed" and mainly young officer of the English government; the scene of a noble house, who takes upon himself the onus of a crime committed by another, that the family honor may be saved. He leaves England under this cloud and plunges into the life of the far West, which he pursues for several years; but finally emerges with his name cleared and comes into possession of an estate and a wife. The character is embodied by Mr.

Westfield in a manner that proclaims his adaptability for this kind of stage work. His sentiment is always fine and manful and he seems especially happy in his appeal for public interest and sympathy.

INSPIRATIONS FOR SONGS

Boyle Woolfolk, manager, co-author and composer of "A Winning Miss," when recently asked what suggested the different ideas of his songs had the following to say: "Different things suggest a title for a song, though in a production most of them are written to fit a situation. However, take the songs in a 'Winning Miss' that were written by me. 'Did You Ever See So Many Funny Looking Hats' was written to give an opportunity of getting comedy out of a lot of ridiculous looking headgear. With 'Eve,' the hit of the show, it is different. I wrote 'Eve' in Beaumont, Texas, about five years when on the road selling cigars. It was in a type-line above. The song 'Biddy McGee' was also written while I was peddling cigars and was the name of a brand we sold in Louisiana. I originally wrote it for an advertisement, but covered my connection with the company in the meantime and never used it until this production. 'Evergreen Bedford' is the name of an old chameleon of mine at college and last summer while down in Kentucky I met him. The name appealed to me as being funny, so I wrote the song and called it by his name, though the real Evergreen is not as green as the Evergreen in the show, I assure you. Most of the other songs written by me in 'A Winning Miss' were written to suit the situations in the show, like when Willie and Billy have a fuss, they go into their duet 'Mean Thing.' 'A Winning Miss' will be presented at Myers Theatre Tuesday, December 13th, with the original cast and complete production.

Lord Loveland Discovers America

CHAPTER XII.

IZZIE OF THE ALMOND EYES.

It was not often that Loveland came into personal relations with anyone, and to see the rose and gold in his eyes and the high and noble above the roof and sleeping windows of New York was like being first gazer at some great painting in a private view. There were hope and promise of joy in such beauty, but he felt wretchedly out of the picture in his rumpled evening clothes.

The virginal purity of dawn, translucent above the turgid darkness of the town, made Lesley Deane seem suddenly to be very near to him, so that the air shone with her invisible presence. How sweet she was, how delicately quaint in all her thoughts, how kind to others despite her clear wit and how sure of ultimate goodness as she was of life!

Lesley had said that she had "faith in his other side," as she had faith in the other side of the moon, though she did not expect ever to see either. "You will always go on getting what you want," she had prophesied just before they parted. What would she think of that prophecy if she were even to dream of this humiliated figure creeping out of night to a new day?

Bill's hatched face glimmered sallow and shabby through the poorly twilight, and there was a frayed look under the patient, humorous eyes. "Are you cold?" he asked.

"A little," replied Val. "But I don't mind." "You ain't used to the climate yet," said Bill, "and I'd make you squeeze into my overcoat only I'm a bit too sketchy underneath. Can't afford to get me winter wardrobe back from my uncle's yet."

They passed out of the Bowers and turned into Twelfth street. Most of the houses still had their eyelids shut in sleep. But in the middle of the first block there was one house which showed some faint signs of life. Above the wide window, in all the glory of red and gold paint not yet faded, was the legend, "This is Alexander the Great's." Inside, his face turned toward the glass, was a big framed blackboard covered with pictorial verbiages of various dishes, done in chalks of violent hues, while from a gilded strip of cornice depended large squares of cardboard glorifying Alexander the Great and his system in lettering of black and scarlet.

"Yesterday's show," explained Bill. "My work, the whole lot. The cards last out the week, but the menu on the blackboard's new every day. I tell you, it takes brain work! Hurry up, chum, I'm late."

They went in, passing directly into a room fitted up as a restaurant. The walls were painted with high representations of Alexander the Great's battles, the costumes and scenery having been studied more with a view to sensational effect than accuracy of historical detail.

"My idea," said Bill proudly. "Got it from the name over the door as I passed by that first day. Came to me like a shot. And then I thought of the picture menus. When they're going to have rabbit, give 'em a rabbit nibble a bit of lettuce—make it realistic. When they're going to have pumpkin pie, just make their mouths water only to see its portrait in the window, so they've got to walk in and eat a chunk of the old original. If it takes their bottom nickel. Now, while I work like heat lightning you amuse yourself examining my shiny doovers."

"Alexander the Great Fights Fair," announced one dangling eard in the window. "Alexander the Great Wins Every Time," alleged another. "Alexander the Great Gives Great Grub," "Dine at Alexander the Great's and You Dine Like a Prince," "You Get From Alexander the Great For 25c. More Than You Get Anywhere Else For a Dollar." And so on, one glowing eulogy after another, all around the window.

Loveland had warmed himself thoroughly for the first time since leaving the Waldorf and had lost his disgusted sense of the close atmosphere when the big red clock struck 7. At the same moment some one pushed aside the door curtain and came into the restaurant from a passageway at the back. Val turned his head and saw a very handsome, very untidy young Jewess.

The girl came in yawning, but at sight of Loveland her languishing, almond shaped eyes opened wide, and a lovely carnation stained the peachy sallowness of her rounded cheeks.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, catching together her unbuttoned wrapper at the throat and taking a step backward toward the door. Suddenly she looked haughty and a little defiant. "I didn't know anybody was here, except Bill. He won't open till 7.30. People don't come in this early. But if you—"

"Thank you, I'm afraid I'm not a customer," said Loveland, pulling off his cap and flashing a little with embarrassment for himself and for the girl.

"This gent's me friend. His name's Gordon—P. Gordon," explained Bill. The girl, laughed, self-consciously, pleased, yet half suspicious of the handsome young man who had paid her the compliment of taking off his cap. She was not used to men who did that, even for pretty girls like her.

"I must trespass on your hospitality for a few minutes," Val said hastily, "until Mr. Willing has time to help me carry out my plans for the day. When he's finished his work."

"You ain't in any one's way here, I'm sure," returned the young woman, still eyeing the mysterious stranger anxiously, but with admiration.

"This is Miss Izzie, that I told you about," announced Bill in his best society manner, "the boss daughter."

The girl bowed as she had seen heroines do on being introduced to heroes in plays at an adjacent melodramatic theater. "How often must I tell you, Bill, not to call me 'Miss Izzie'." And she glanced out of the corners of her long, almond shaped eyes at Loveland. "You're an actor, ain't you, Mr. Gordon?" she asked.

"No, I'm not," replied Val, stiffening slightly.

"Excuse me if I've said the wrong thing," coaxed the girl in her soft tones. "I didn't see how Bill came to have a swell friend unless 'twas an actor. But I must go. I only came round for pa, because he's sick with a cold. I told him I'd see after things till he's better. He don't like me fooling round in business hours, with a lot of men staring and passing remarks." She threw another glance at Val to see if he were impressed by this explanation, "but he feels too bad to care today. I'll go pour myself into my glad rags now and be down again as soon as I can."

"Does sick, is he?" said Bill, who was finishing his work on the room side of the blackboard by indicating a lobster with thick scribbled strokes of fast flying chalk. "Won't be down till by and by."

"The daughter of Alexander the Great showed her dimples. 'You think that means you'll get a free meal, I guess. When the cat's away.'"

"And has got a pretty, kind kitten for his understudy," Bill finished.

"Well, you know I'm soft, don't you? If you want anything look sharp and get it or pa might change his mind and pop in. Won't you have something, Mr. Gordon?" she went on hospitably.

Any Woman Can Have Beautiful Hair

(From French Beauty Monthly)

"No woman should use water upon her hair oftener than once in two months," says M. Pommier, the noted French scientist. "Dry powder only should be used. Moisture causes the hair to lose its color and in time becomes thin."

"Any woman desiring abundant, lustrous hair should use a dry shampoo every two or three days. Mix four ounces of powdered orris root with four ounces of ether. Sprinkle about a tablespoonful of this mixture upon the head; then brush the powder thoroughly through the hair. This will keep it light and fluffy, and beautifully lustrous. You will soon see new hair starting to grow. This treatment is the only thing that I am sure will produce a growth of hair."

"While plain orris root is used as a dry shampoo by many women, still, no such results can be obtained as by using the formula I have given."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The outstanding features of President Taft's message, sent to congress today, are these:

He declares it is time to stop legislation with reference to regulation of corporations and to witness the effect of a vigorous execution of the laws already on the statute books. The exact limitation upon business methods imposed by law will doubtless be made clearer by pending decisions of the supreme court.

Just at this time, the President says, he believes the activities of the government, in addition to enforcement of the laws, should be directed toward economy of administration, the enlargement of opportunities for foreign trade, the building up of home industry and the strengthening of confidence of capital in domestic investment.

Mr. Taft recommends strongly some form of ship subsidy to increase American shipping especially to South America.

The tariff board is not ready to submit a report on any of the schedules of the Payne law, and Mr. Taft says he will not recommend any tariff legislation until the new congress convenes in December, 1911.

He urges that the tariff board be made permanent and that all future revisions be made schedule by schedule. He vigorously opposes another general revision.

The Panama canal should be all means be fortified. An appropriation of $10,000,000 is recommended for this purpose.

There must be no more "park bar" methods in river and harbor and public building bills. The latter should be based upon the report of a commission of experts. In the past congress has appropriated too much for buildings not needed and not enough for buildings badly needed.

Recommendation for anti-inflation and federal incorporation laws are renewed.

It is proposed that second class mail rates shall be adjusted so as to charge magazines a much higher rate on their advertising sections.

Strong representations are made for the establishment of a new banking and currency system.

Two new battleships and several auxiliary vessels are urged for the navy.

The President recommends that coal, phosphate and oil lands and water power sites be disposed of in the future by leasing.

Estimates for government expenditures during the next fiscal year have been cut to $630,494,013.12, which is $52,961,887.36 less than the actual appropriations for the current year. The estimated receipts for the next fiscal year are $680,000,000.

The President urges the extension of the civil service principle to the diplomatic and consular corps and the acquisition by the government of residences and offices for its diplomatic officers.

Some criticisms of the Payne tariff act are just, says the President, but more are unfounded.

There should be more officers for the army. The sixtieth corps should be increased by one.

The fortifications at Carregor Island, Manila Bay and at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, should be carried to early completion.

Regarding the Panama canal the President says:

"The progress of the work is most satisfactory. It will be completed within the time set, Jan. 1, 1915, and within the estimated cost of $375,000,000. The slides in Culebra Cut offer no great reason for delay."

Failure to fortify the canal would leave the United States powerless to enforce the universal and equal use of the waterway against a desperate and irresponsible enemy, and would defeat the object of the canal in increasing the military effectiveness of the American navy.

The tolls should not exceed $1 per ton. The President should be authorized to adjust the rates as necessity arises. The government should include in its management of the canal the furnishing not only to the navy but to the public as well, drydock and repair facilities, and the sale of coal, oil and other ship supplies.

Interstate railroads should be prevented from owning or controlling ships trading through the canal.

Regarding the courts the President declares the crying need of the United States is cheapening the cost of litigation by simplifying the judicial procedure and expediting final judgment. The supreme court should be relieved from unnecessary appeals. The salaries of federal judges should be increased.

Postal savings banks will be established in a number of cities Jan. 1. A parcels post on rural delivery routes is recommended. Postmaster General Hitchcock is given high praise for putting the postoffice department on a self-sustaining basis. The extension of the civil service to include all classes of postmasters and thus taking these officials entirely out of politics is urged.

The President recommends congress give some fitting recognition of the polar discoveries of Commander Robert E. Peary. The secretary of the navy suggests that Peary be made a rear admiral and placed on the retired list.

The stupendous value of the agricultural products amounting to $8,325,000,000 this year, indicates a good prospect for business throughout the country.

The present census promises to be the best ever taken, but is not perfect. The census takers are to be vigorously censured.

A bureau of health should be established.

The Southern Pacific railroad should be reimbursed for its expenditures in fighting the flood in the Imperial Valley of California several years ago.

Heavier fines should be imposed against steamship companies for violating the immigration laws. The facilities at Ellis Island, New York, should not be so increased as to offer an inducement to the steamship companies to concentrate their immigrant business at one port. Immigrants are needed in the rural districts.

Some provision should be made for retiring superannuated government clerks.

The only amendments suggested in the interstate commerce law are an appropriation to enable the interstate commerce commission to ascertain the valuation of railroads and fixing their responsibilities of public carriers in the issuance of bills of lading.

THE LOCAL OPERA HOUSE.
Janesville boasts of her schools and churches, and while the latter are not so well patronized as they might be, we all point with pride to the fact that they are here. The city also has a public play-house, which is a credit to the town, and yet which is but slightly appreciated, as was evidenced last Saturday afternoon and evening, when but a handful of people greeted the great comedian, Louis Mann.

The management of an opera house, like the management of a newspaper, is open to all sorts of criticism, and people are free to say what they would do, if in command, but Mr. Myers is entitled to better support than he is receiving. His house was thoroughly overhauled last summer and is now modern in every respect, and one of the coziest little theatres in the country.

His attractions include the best on the road, Louis Mann ranks with David Warfield, and as a German comedian has no rival in this country. His plays to capacity houses for months at a time in New York and Chicago.

"The Cheater," in which he is now appearing, is adopted from the German, and is as full of wholesome fun as a nut is of meat.

The name of the play may not incite much enthusiasm, but the man behind it always makes good. He is the same mirth-provoking character that made reputation and popularity for "The Telephone Girl," "The Girl From Paris," and "The Man Who Stood Still." To see Mann once, is to remember him for a lifetime, and it is to be hoped that he may be induced to make another visit to Janesville.

Mr. Myers has other attractions booked, of equal merit, but the town is fast becoming a by-word with managers of this class of entertainments, and unless a larger sense of appreciation is shown, the local play-house may be obliged to retire from the field.

Uncle Walt
THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

When luck is dead against you and everything looks black, it does no good to fidget or turn upon your tracks. It does no good bewailing the errors you have made, or counting all the byways in which your feet

COURAGE have strayed. There is no good fretting that others were at fault, for he who blames his comrades is hardly worth his salt; and weeping never helps you, or makes the way less rough, for tears are only water, and water's wash is stuff. Brace up, O weary pilgrim, brace up and be a man! Though fortune sorely sways you, do still the best you can! Dame Fortune often tests us, to see how high we stand, and if she sees us weeping, or turning on the track, she sadly says: "These pilgrims are bargain counter goods; it's not worth while to show them the pathway from the woods!" But if we meet affliction with courage bold and high, she guides us to the valleys where her possessions lie. So do not weep or languish when life seems void of hope, for tears are only water, and water's flimsy drape.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE

MULTIPLYING BY TWO.
A Chicago man got a divorce from his wife and promised to pay alimony. He failed to pay, and his former wife sued him. On the witness stand this man testified that he was unable to pay the alimony.

He averred that it cost more to live the single than the married life. Which, at first blush, may seem a false statement and a plea in avoidance.

But said the witness: The wife had been an economical manager and did the work of her household so that a small sum of money was sufficient to pay the necessary expenses. But now, being deprived of the good management of his affairs, it took every cent of his wages to live.

He was not joking. In actual experience he had been able to get more out of his wages for two persons than for one.

The statement is true. And it is supported by the testimony of most married men, who will tell you that they were unable while single to save money and that their financial prosperity dates from the time of their marriage.

Of course much depends upon the sort of wife one marries. There is more truth than poetry in the old saying that a wasteful wife can shovel money out of the back door of the kitchen with a teaspoon faster than a husband can shovel it into the front door with a scoop shovel.

But the woman who is extravagant in household matters is the exception to the general rule.

And enter is the wife who is a poor manager. By inheritance, instinct and training a woman is fitted for household economies.

The average wife excels her husband in getting value received for her money. She can make a dollar go farther than he. She is the better bargainer, the shrewder buyer.

And when one is married to a wife who excels him in these respects—and the name of this woman is legion—it is the part of wisdom to turn one's pockets inside out to her.

As the Chicagoan discovered. Every well married man has learned that besides being wife and sweetheart the woman at his side is both helpmate and manager; that as a married man, instead of multiplying his expenses by two, as he anticipated, he has in reality multiplied his wages by two.

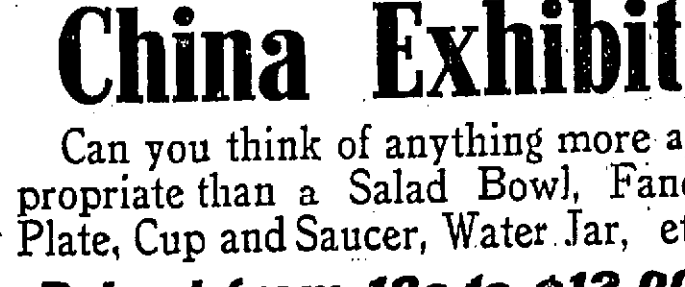

DUC DE CHARTRES DIES AT 70.
During American Civil War He Served on Gen. McClellan's Staff.

Paris, Dec. 6.—Robert Louis Philippe, Eugene Ferdinand d'Orleans, Duc de Chartres, a brother of the late Comte de Paris and a grandson of Louis Philippe, died here at the age of seventy.

During the American Civil war Duc de Chartres and his elder brother, the Comte de Paris, served on the staff of Gen. George McClellan. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic of the United States and also of the Society of the Army of the Potomac.

BAR UNSKILLED ALIEN LABOR, REPORT URGES

Commission on Immigration Asks Congress to Consider Question as Economic One.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Sentimental considerations in restricting immigration should be waived in lieu of the economic problems arising from adverse effects on wages and living conditions which the large number of aliens have had in recent years, according to the final report of the immigration commission transmitted to congress. The commission unanimously urges the restriction of unskilled labor immigration.

The conclusion of the commission is that the present immigration from Europe is due chiefly to economic causes, but is not an absolute economic necessity any longer, and that as a rule those who now come over do so to better their conditions rather than to escape intolerable conditions at home.

"This fact," the report says, "should largely modify the natural incentive to treat the immigration movement from the standpoint of sentiment and permit its consideration primarily as an economic problem."

The commission then presents a number of plans for limiting immigration, among them being a reading and writing test, which is the one favored by a majority as the most feasible single test of all.

SUPREME COURT HAS MADE ITS DECISION

W. G. Maxcy Who Is Interested in Local Water Company Plainly in Suit.

By the decision of the state supreme court today the suit brought by W. G. Maxcy of Oshkosh against the city of Oshkosh the findings of the lower court are sustained. Mr. Maxcy is an owner in the Janesville Water Company. The suit in question was.

These are two appeals from the lower court—first an appeal from an order before the verdict in the case was reached, setting aside a temporary restraining order and refusal to grant any injunction until the determination of the suit; and second appeal from the final judgment of the case on its merits. The temporary restraining order first issued and later set aside enjoined the issuance of $50,000 in bonds by the city for the construction of a manual training school, in order to comply with the terms of the will of the late Helen A. Beach, who died in 1907, leaving an estate valued at $125,000. The court ordered the issuance of bonds to be tentatively planned to charge tuition. Maxcy, a taxpayer, brought suit for an injunction, holding that the city had no right to build a manual training school; that all public schools of the primary grades are nothing more than district schools, even though they be in a city. The decision in this case was expected to settle the question of a city's right to issue school bonds for anything other than district or high schools of the ordinary type.

The court also denied the motion of the state for a rehearing of the case by which it decided that the name of Louis H. Bancroft should go on the official ballot as the republican nominee for attorney general. The court offered no new reasoning, contending itself with elaborating on the manner in which the decision was reached.

The court also, in the case involving the Milwaukee Sentinel, denied that contracts for advertising in a Sunday newspaper are void, as conflicting with the "blue law" prohibiting works not of necessity or charity on the Sabbath. The court held that the fact the preparation of matter was largely done on secular day did not affect the fact that the paper circulated on Sunday, which is a determining factor in the application of Sunday law.

The court also affirmed the suit of T. J. Nancy, plaintiff, versus the board of supervisors of Milwaukee county. It was a taxpayer's action to rescind a contract between the board of supervisors and owners of 284 acres of land adjoining the village of North Milwaukee, at an average price of $570.50 an acre, upon which the board wished to relocate the Milwaukee County House of Correction. The two issues involved were: (1) Has the county power to buy this land for this purpose? (2) If such power exists, then does the record show valid exercise thereof? The lower court (Judge Ludwig) held the price exorbitant to the extent of $170 an acre; that there was no evidence of fraud anywhere, it was contended that the power of the board to buy a site for that purpose was exhausted when the original site was purchased, under the law granting such power.

ROCK COUNTY HOGS FINEST IN MARKET

Shipment Made by A. G. Metzinger to Chicago From Afton Saturday Received Highest Prices Paid.

A. G. Metzinger, a stock buyer of this city, who shipped a carload of hogs to Chicago, Saturday, from Afton, topped the Chicago market, receiving the highest prices paid for any shipment of hogs to that city. This is a distinct triumph for Rock county and for the stockholders in particular who raised the animals. All were purchased in the county and shipments to the market were made of the best stock to be found from all over the west.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Progress Publishing Co: A copy of the articles of incorporation of the Progress Publishing Co., of Beloit, capital $2,000, has been filed with the register of deeds. The incorporators are M. G. Thimmes, Raymond Howard and Ralph Clarke.

"Baldy" Jackson A Fugitive: John Jackson, called "Baldy" for short, while being escorted with other prisoners to the county jail, where he was to serve a 30 day sentence in lieu of the payment of a fine, and costs of $11 for drunkenness, darted down an alley and made good his escape. Being a fugitive from justice it is a safe guess that "Baldy" will give Janesville a wide berth for the next few months. The officers will be on the look-out for him next Fourth of July.

Surprised Arnold Daetwyler: Arnold Daetwyler was surprised by a company of eighty friends at his home, 615 Western Avenue, Saturday night, the occasion being his fortieth birthday anniversary. The evening was devoted to music and games and delicious refreshments were served in four courses. William Wagner of San Prairie was an out-of-town guest. The host was presented with a number of handsome gifts.

Birthday Party: Miss Lulu Hamilton entertained a company of nine girl friends last Saturday afternoon at her home on Mineral Point ave., in honor of her ninth birthday. Various games offered amusement and at four o'clock supper was served. Numerous gifts were received.

Chester Morse in Missouri: Chester Morse has gone to the state of Missouri to take the land for the Janesville High Water Co. The state of Missouri is the territory that has been assigned to him. He writes that he likes everything but the hotels.

Buildings Not Yet Razed: Mayor Carls has not yet given his acquiescence to the order passed by the common council directing Chief Appleby to raze the Greek peasant cottages near the Y. M. C. A. buildings and City Attorney Maxfield holds that nothing can be done without such approval.

AUTHORITIES WATCH FOR CLEVER THIEF

One Home Entered Four Times in Past Month and Ninety-two Dollars Taken in Different Visits.

Evidently Janesville has a most clever thief at work. Either a modern up-to-date "buff" or some one equally clever has been visiting one home in the city with constant regularity during the past month. The first trip, on Nov. 5, did not net him anything. The lay of the land was obtained, however, and on the night of the 12th, over, and on the night of the 12th, pocketbook was secured from a pocketbook lying on a mantle. Made holder by the thief paid a third visit and took the pocketbook from beneath the pillow of the gentleman of the house and extracted $20 in currency, leaving checks and pocketbook on the edge of the bed. The last robbery occurred on Sunday last, between the hours of nine Saturday night and 10:30 Sunday morning, and this time the haul was even greater—fifty-two dollars—two checks for $25 and one for $5, and the pocketbook being taken. The police and sheriff's office have been notified and are working on the case and it is expected that a suspect will be taken into custody and closely questioned within a day or two.

TO BEGIN PRACTICE FOR COMING SEASON

Basket Ball Season at High School Opens Tonight With First Practice—Good Games Scheduled.

Couch Knudson has issued a call for all those interested in basket ball to be on hand this afternoon for the first practice of the season. It is not probable that any games will be played before Christmas as most of the time will be needed to try out new material and get the team organized for the heavy schedule which has been arranged beginning after the holidays. Among the old men who will be out are Capt. Hemming, Kest and Koch. Other candidates for positions on the team are, Brown, Feltner, Edler and Hazen.

With the exception of two or three dates the following is the schedule for the season: Jan. 3 Alumni; Jan. 3 Milton College at Janesville; Jan. 19 Stoughton at Stoughton; Jan. 20, Beloit at Janesville; Jan. 27 Jefferson at Jefferson; Feb. 7 Open; Feb. 10 Open; Feb. 17 Beloit at Beloit; Feb. 24 Jefferson at Janesville; March 3 Evansville at Evansville.

It is hoped that a game can be scheduled on one of the open dates.

THE LIBERALS ARE LEADING

ELECTION RESULTS SHOW UNIONISTS CANNOT HOPE TO REPLACE PRESENT GOVERNMENT.

MUST WIN 62 MORE SEATS

Question of Majority is Still in Dispute—New Commons Expected to Assemble With Party Position Showing But Little Change.

London, Dec. 6.—The following shows the standing of the parties in the next parliament as returned after two days' polling in the general election:

Government coalition, Liberals, 87; Labor, 14; Nationalists, 10; total, 117.

Opposition, Unionists, 116. The results merely confirm the opinion formed from previous contests that the Unionists now have no possible hope of replacing the Liberal government in power. The only question remaining is whether the Liberals will return with a larger or a smaller majority.

Unionists Must Gain 62 Votes.

To gain a bare majority in the new parliament the Unionists must make a net gain of sixty-two seats. Thus far, with 139 pollings, they have a net gain of only five seats. They have gained eleven and the Liberals six seats. A continuation at this rate of progress would fulfill the Unionist prediction that the Asquith cabinet would come back with a greatly weakened majority and would be more than over dependent upon their Irish and Labor allies.

Parties Practically Unchanged.

It must be remembered, however, that the Liberals lost at the January elections a large number of seats through three-cornered contests. Such contests are largely eliminated in the present elections, and this may give the Liberals sufficient gains to balance those of the Unionists.

On the whole it seems likely that the new house of commons will meet with the position of the parties practically unchanged. The question will then arise whether the king will feel justified in giving guarantees for the creation of Liberal peers to force the veto bill through the house of lords.

ROAD BUILDING EXPERTS MEET.

Better Construction of Highways is Topic at Indianapolis Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 6.—As regards both attendance and expected results, the seventh annual convention of the American Road Builders' association, which opened at the German House today, surpasses any of the previous conventions. No effort has been spared either by the officers of the association or the local committee to make the gathering a success from every point of view. The convention city has been chosen with due regard to accessibility and to the other requirements of a meeting place for workers from widely separated communities; the convention building has been so selected as to offer every convenience for the holding of the sessions and the exhibition of materials and equipment; and in the preparation of the program, the showing of exhibits and the providing of entertainment for delegates and guests full advantage has been taken of the opportunity to make the convention the principal event of the year in road-building circles.

The American Road Builders' association is composed of men identified with and interested in the subject of highway improvement and includes in its membership most of the leading authorities on road building, street paving and kindred subjects. At the request of Governor Marshall, the governors of the other states and of the Canadian provinces have sent delegates.

SHERIFF HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

TWO ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGES

arl Stanke and William Tilley of Edgerton Alleged To Have Cashed Phony Orders.

Edgerton, Dec. 6.—Upon complaint of W. H. Morrissey, Carl Stanke and Wm. Tilley were arrested by Officer Dunn on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. It is alleged that Tilley wrote out orders on Elmer Elmer Thurlson and D. H. Horst for money alleged due to Stanke, at Stanke's request, the latter not being able to write them out properly. Stanke then proceeded to cash the orders on Thurlson for $6.50 at W. H. Morrissey's store, and one for $1.50 at Shelly, Anderson and Farnham's, claiming the money was due him and that he had been told to draw it when needed. An investigation followed and it was discovered that the money was not owing Stanke and both men were arrested.

At the investigation held yesterday they pleaded not guilty and when the case was called today, on the strength of a confession of Stanke that he had told Tilley to write the orders, the case against the latter was dismissed and he was released. Otto Oostreich represented the district attorney in the case. Stanke was however held for trial in the municipal court, the date of his trial being set for December 20. He is also charged with a second offense, that of stealing hides from a farmer, and his hearing on this charge will come up later this afternoon.

Had No License.

J. M. Horst, proprietor of the Carlton hotel, was yesterday brought before Judge North for selling liquor without a license. His license was revoked last spring for selling liquor to a minor and the city council refused to grant him another in July. He entered a plea of not guilty but last night changed his plea to guilty and this morning paid $66.33 in full of a $50 fine and costs.

Personal.

Frank Pierce has gone to Rochester to consult Dr. Mayo in regard to an operation for appendicitis.

J. O. Tilley of Albany, Wis., is here to attend the trial of his son.

The decision of Judge Grimm in dismissing the case against Stricker Bros., the local saloon-keepers, for selling a case of beer to a woman, is one of the chief topics of interest this morning.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I VISITED a home recently which was decidedly unique in one way, and that was this:

There were two as dear children as ever were petted and noticed and admitted into the ruination of their childish charm, and yet they actually were not the center of attention or anything like it.

They were subordinated to their elders, taught to respect them thoroughly, to obey instantly and to some extent to actually practise that old proverb, "Children should be seen and not heard."

The difference between this and the ordinary household was most noticeable at the dinner table.

In the average household where there are children who are old enough to come to the table with the family, the whole conversation usually centers about the children. Their sallies, which are listened to with rapt attention and receive an unwholesome amount of applause and laughter, admonitions of their table manners and prohibitions as to their diet, are the backbone of the table talk.

In this household, EXCEPT TO ASK FOR SOMETHING TO EAT, THOSE CHILDREN NEVER SPOKE UNLESS THEY WERE SPOKEN TO. They ate what was put on their plates—every bit of it, too—listened to the conversation of the elders, and when they had finished murmured their "Please excuse me," slipped silently down from the table, and it being a home where there was no maid, bore their plates quietly out into the kitchen. At night, having done this, they prettily bade us all "Good night" and without even a suggestion from their mother that it was bedtime, much less the ordinary child's teasing will to be allowed to "sit up just five minutes longer," started upstairs to bed by themselves. Later their mother followed, tucked them in and kissed them good night.

Now by this I don't mean that those children were absolutely silent at the table, by no means. I mean just what I said. They did not speak except when spoken to. Frequently one of the older members of the family would inquire what the little girl learned at school or where the little boy went skating, and then the youngster addressed would answer with a naturalness and spirit which the average youngster, blazed as he is by his habitual monopoly of the center of the stage, never shows.

Doubtless there will be some passionate believer in the wickedness of repressing the young who will think this program rather too harsh, and pity the children who are ruled by it.

Let me tell you, my dear sir or madame, that they most emphatically don't need your pity. They are two of the happiest as well as best behaved children that I ever had the pleasure of seeing, and I only wish that every parent of an attention-spilled child could take dinner for once at this little home and see what is possible under a system which does not make the child the supreme center of attention.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

By ROSE TERRELL.

For the restless person who is always on the wing, a traveler's pillow makes a nice gift. To make, purchase a yard of dull ribbon, sew a piece 18 inches long by 18 inches wide into a pillow slip opening at one end in an inch wide band, which should be hemstitched and made to button together. On one side of the pillow make a pocket the width of the pillow and 8 inches deep, after it is hemmed. Stitch a handle of the goods to this pocket and to the top of the pillow. A small leather pillow may be slipped in this case and books and writing materials carried in the pocket. The initial or monogram should be embroidered on the pocket.

This same little pillow, furnished with long cords to tie to the back of the chair, will be found a great comfort to an invalid, as it is always in place and never gets lost.

Another gift the woman who travels will like is an apron of white linen made with sufficient pockets to carry all her toilet articles. There should be a comb and brush pocket, a pocket with a removable rubber lining to hold wash cloths and sponges, a soap pocket, and one for powder and manicure set. With this tied about her waist, the traveler need not carry a heavy suitcase or travel bag to the dressing room on the sleeper. When not in use it can be folded into small space and tucked away.

For the man who must be on the cars a great deal the leather razor case made of leather and lined with soft chamois will make a safe gift. Do not forget that the soft suede leather is easy to embroider upon and may be ornamented in that way if the cut work is not liked.

One of the most delightful gifts for the housekeeper is a leather bag for soap. So many of us cut out soap when it is "stiff" with the firm intention of trying them some day if the taste is as good as it

BREAKS UP A COLD IN SEVERAL HOURS

Most effective and harmless way to cure a severe cold and end all Grippe misery.

There is not one grain of quinine in Paper's Cold Compound, which, when taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will surely and the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgic pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal affections, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Paper's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or Grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Paper's Cold Compound, which may supply.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE law of nature is that a certain quantity of work is necessary to produce a certain quantity of good of any kind whatever. If you want you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it.

Quick Breads.

If there is one thing the normal man does on it is hot breads of all kinds, and it is hard for him to realize that hot bread at every meal is not good for the stomach.

Cereal Breads.—Cereals and breads made from cereals are very satisfying and nutritious. They are not expensive and with or without fruit and nuts are good foods.

Corn Bread.—Take a pint of sour milk, one tablespoonful of melted lard, one egg well beaten, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of soda and enough to make a drop batter. Pour into a greased dripping pan and bake for half an hour. This same mixture may be used in muffin pans. A mixture of equal parts of corn meal and flour is better liked by many. When using sweet milk use two teaspoonfuls of baking powder in place of the soda.

Maryland Biscuits.—Sift half a teaspoonful of salt with a quart of flour, then cut into it two tablespoonfuls of butter. Make a stiff dough with a cup of ice water; turn the mixture out on the rolling pin and beat with the rolling pin for 20 minutes, turning frequently; cut into rounds and bake in a moderate oven. The pounding of the dough incloses air in it and makes it light when expanded by the heat.

Cream Scones.—Mix and sift together two cups of flour and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt. Rub into the mixture four tablespoonfuls of butter; add two well-beaten eggs and a third of a cup of cream. Toss on a floured board and roll to three-fourths of an inch in thickness. Cut in squares, brush with the white of egg, sprinkle with sugar and bake in a hot oven 15 minutes.

Hominy Cakes.—Add a fourth cup of hominy to a half cup of boiling water and stand until the water is absorbed. Add a cup of hot milk, a half teaspoonful of salt to a cup of cornmeal, three tablespoonfuls of butter and three of sugar. Combine mixture, cool, add two eggs and the two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted in. Beat well and bake in buttered gem pans.

Fabric From Spruce Wood. An excellent fabric made from spruce wood pulp has been produced by a French inventor and the first samples were exhibited at the recent meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers. Cloth woven from the fiber is said to stand bleaching, dyeing and finishing as well as cotton and to have a more brilliant luster. It can be produced for much less cost than the market price of cotton, and arrangements are said to have been made for its manufacture on a large scale abroad.

Substitute for Beeswax.

A wax from the rattle palm of Madagascar is expected to prove a substitute for beeswax. The leaves of the palm are beaten to small fragments on a mat and then boiled, the wax so obtained being collected and kneaded into small cakes. The new material is being tested for bottling purposes, phonograph cylinders, etc.

Headache

"My father has been a sufferer from sick headache for the last twenty-five years and never found any relief until he began taking your Cascarets. Since he has begun taking Cascarets he has never had the headache. They have entirely cured him. Cascarets do what you recommend them to do. I will give you the privilege of using his name."—E. M. For the Children

A Hippo Very Patiently and Quietly Waiting For His Dinner.

Above is the portrait of the largest hippopotamus in the New York zoo. He is hungry and waiting for the attendant to bring his dinner along. You can see by his open smile that he is able to take a pretty large mouthful. In captivity the hippopotamus is fed grass and hay, bread, carrots and various other vegetables. When the keeper feeds bread the hippo simply opens his mouth and lets the man pitch the bread into his cavernous maw.

In their native habitat, Africa, hippos are sometimes found as much as fourteen feet long and nearly five feet high, but they usually are much smaller. They delight in water, living in lakes and rivers and feeding on water plants and the herbage growing near the water. They are good swimmers and divers and can remain under water eight or ten minutes.

A Roland For an Oliver.

"A Roland for an Oliver" is an expression that dates from the time of Chaucer. Roland was his nephew and, like the great Charles, was eight feet high. Oliver, a celebrated knight of the same period, was quite a match for him, and they agreed to test their respective strength and skill in a combat on an island in the Rhine. The contest lasted five days without the slightest advantage to either. If Roland got in a well directed blow his opponent gave him quite as good a one in return, or if Oliver performed a feat of extraordinary skill Roland was sure to match it with a movement quite as adroit. It was a remarkable and altogether unskilled combat, and it gave rise to the saying "a Roland for an Oliver" when a person who has attacked another receives a blow or a return fully equal to what he has given. Whatever it may be that is received, a return in kind is often called "a Roland for an Oliver."

Elephants Good Workers.

Elephants are used in every department of savannah in Burma. In the work of piling logs they show great intelligence. One elephant will drag a log out of the water to the saw bench and place it with his tusks on the table, while his mate waits at the other end, ready as soon as the buzzing circular saw has converted the round tree into a four sided log, to lift it off the bench, place it on the ground and drag it out to the storage yard, where he puts it carefully into position, placing one log exactly on top of the other. Elephants can pile logs as high as their foreheads. When the squared logs are wanted for shipment the elephant picks out the required number and drags them down to the water's edge. If it is necessary he enters the river and holds the logs in position while they are being bound together by the raftsmen.

Portrait—A Game.

In the game called portrait one person leaves the room while the others choose the name of some one they all know. The person on re-entering the room has to guess the name selected by asking questions, which must be answered only by "Yes" or "No." For instance, "Is it a man?" "No." "Is it a woman?" "Yes." "Is she married?" "No." "Is she tall?" "Has she fair hair?" "Are her eyes blue?" "Is she in this room?" and so on till the portrait is recognized. Sometimes the company choose the Read the ads tonight.

one who went outside to be the portrait, which naturally makes the guessing rather more difficult.

What Feet Are These? There's a foot that's played all over our land. There's a foot that is often seen in the mud. There's a foot that crosses many a stream And a foot we sometimes strike in a dream. There's a foot that marches in rain or shine And a foot that has measured many a line. There's a foot which makes for our feet a rest And a foot which is heard from east to west.

Answers.—Football, footprint, foot-bridge, footboard, foot soldier, foot-rule, footstool, footstep.

Conundrums. What is a soldier's definition of a "kiss"? A reply at headquarters. Why is a crow like a lawyer? It likes to have its caws (cause) heard. Which is the hardest of all soaps? Cast steel (castile).

Why does a duck go under water? For divers reasons.

What killed Julius Caesar? Roman punches.

When will there be only twenty-five letters in the alphabet? When U and I are one.

Where "Cranford" Was Written.

To lovers of that English classic "Cranford" this picture of the house in Manchester, England, where Mrs. Gaskell wrote her immortal story will doubtless be of great interest. The centenary of Mrs. Gaskell's birth was recently celebrated at Knutsford, Cheshire, the English village which furnished the author with character studies for "Cranford." In which she reproduced to the life the everyday existence of the "middle class" and widows of limited means who formed the social life of the village.

ENTIRELY BALD.

Her Hair Commenced to Grow After Two Weeks Use of Newbro's Herpicide.

"I have caused me to be entirely bald. I had given up all hope of again having hair when I was advised to use Herpicide. After two weeks my hair commenced to grow. I now have the most beautiful head of hair anyone ever saw. Praise to Newbro's Herpicide."

Thus writes Mrs. Howard Bailey, of Bellevue, Mich. We can point to thousands of instances where the proper use of Herpicide has been followed by a remarkable growth of hair.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy which kills the dandruff germ and stops falling hair.

Cock Fighting in Mexico.

In the smaller towns and villages of Mexico the cock fight still holds its own in the hearts of the populace, and no fair or public festival is complete without its cock-pit, which is generally well advertised and made one of the attractions of the festival. At these festivals, as in the olden days, betting is still a feature of the sport, and often much money changes hands.

Before the Day of Forks.

Forks were absolutely unknown to the Greeks and Romans, who, in taking their solid foods, used their fingers. The meats served were cut into pieces of varying size and each one divided the piece that he had before him as best he could with his fingers. As for forks, who ever dreamed of such a thing? Had not nature given each person ten fingers?

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science, that analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing this cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to make. Yet there is plenty of proof. Joseph N. Puddicombe tried them up. If you are sick and suffer—Puddicombe says, if you have to back the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people HAVE BEEN GIVEN UP by the medical profession.

Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments. EXAMINATIONS COST NOTHING.

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows—it is hard again to heat the room properly. If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-igniting flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

ADVISE SHIPPING OF GIFTS EARLY

Express Companies Ask That Xmas Packages Be Sent Early To Facilitate Handling Of Business.

When you ship early, don't forget to express early too. The express companies want the coming of the heavy holiday business with a certain dread of long experience. That much of this business is needless is declared by express officials.

The express companies say the shipments of holiday packages should begin in ten days. They need not be delivered on arrival at their destination if proper measures are taken.

Experience has shown that both the public and the express companies profit by shipping Christmas packages early. This facility to delay their delivery until after Christmas day is removed if they are shipped early, and there is far less likelihood of their going astray. Ship your packages by the 15th of December if possible. The express company will give you a small label to paste on the package, reading "Do not open until Christmas." This will give opportunity for the package to reach its destination before Christmas and give the additional pleasure to the recipient of the gift of having it on Christmas morning.

Use wooden boxes for packing especially for glass and other fragile articles, which should be well protected. It may cost a few cents more, but the danger of damage will be very much reduced, and you should do your part to make the transportation of your gift safe.

Write the address in full—state, county, city, street and number—on the box or package, with ink or crayon. Tags are frequently torn off and lost.

If you want to prepay the charges, write the word "Paid" in large, plain letters on the package.

Fasten upon a receipt and see that the amount paid and the value is marked on the receipt and on the package.

Write your own address in full somewhere on the package, following the prefix From.....

Enclose a card in each box or package reading:

From.....

To.....

(Consignee's address.)

"This in order that, should the outer markings be destroyed, the inner mark will insure prompt forwarding and delivery."

If not convenient to ship in wooden boxes, use strong wrapping paper (not newspaper) and tie with strong cord.

If the package contains anything of perishable nature, write the word "Perishable" in large plain letters on the box or package, which will call for special attention and delivery.

If you will observe these suggestions, you will greatly assist in the prompt delivery of your gift in good condition."

ITCHING RASH ON FACE AND NECK

Cured—Scratched Until Face was Mass of Raw Flesh—Used Cuticura and had First Good Night's Sleep in 3 Months.

"An itching rash broke out on my face and neck, and that I scratched until my face was a mass of raw flesh which kept me awake all night. After going to a family doctor, he not helping me, I tried another doctor but without success. After doctors failing, a friend recommended the Cuticura Remedies. That night, after washing my face and neck with Cuticura Soap, I applied some Cuticura Ointment and had the first good night's sleep in three months. I used about two lots of Cuticura Soap and Ointment when you could not see a mark on my face or neck. I will gladly recommend the Cuticura Remedies to anybody. Wm. Silver, 310 West 38th St., New York, Mar. 1, 1910."

In another letter Mr. Silver says, "My case was of about two years standing. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for about three days I saw a decided improvement and was entirely cured in two months."

For the prevention and treatment of itching, burning, scaling eruptions and the condition of persistent skin and hair health, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are absolutely unrivaled in purity, efficacy and economy. A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient.

Send throughout the civilized world, Potter Bros. & Chem. Corp., Sole Mfrs., Boston, Mass. Use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of the skin.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 15 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 25 ounces of Phlox (fifty cents) worth in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Yourself—and that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever tried. Usually sends a decrepit cough in flight in 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is pleasantly laxative, which helps ease a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than any other remedy. Buy ready-made for 25¢ per pint. Keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Phlox is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in palatable and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Phlox and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so potent throughout the United States and Canada, that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equalled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Phlox or will not it for you. If not, send to The Phlox Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

RED CROSS IN ANNUAL SESSION.

President Taft Presides at Meeting of American Society at Capital.

Washington, Dec. 6.—What organized humanitarianism of the country have been doing in the past year to assist the afflicted was told today at the sixth annual meeting of the American Red Cross which was held in the Continental Memorial hall. At the morning session, after reports on the organization of state boards, Dr. George W. Crile (old of first aid work among the police of Cleveland, Mrs. Theodore N. McLaughlin talked on "Public first aid stations. Major C. A. Devoil on special activities in the relief zone. Miss Annie Lewis of Cincinnati on the Red Cross Christmas seal and Sherman C. Kingsley of Chicago on "The Duties and Opportunities of an Institutional Member of the Red Cross."

Luncheon was served in the building and after the taking of a group photograph the afternoon session was called to order by President Taft. Reports of officers and boards were heard. National Director Ernest P. Blackwell told of the relief work of the year in American disasters, and Huntington Wilson, assistant Secretary of State, reported on the relief given to the sufferers in disasters in other lands. Senator Calvo, the minister from Costa Rica, described the relief work done after the earthquake in his country. Tonight Miss Mabel Boardman will give a reception for the delegates.

Reach Out!

It is all very well to be thankful for small mercies, but the more you ask for the more you get.—P. W. J. well.

PHYSICIAN SAID APPENDICITIS

Gall Stones Expelled by the Great Kidney Preparation

I thought I would do you a favor and let you know what Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root has done so far for me. I was taken sick with a terrible pain in my right side. My family physician pronounced it appendicitis. About two weeks ago I received your Swamp-Root and read in it about weak kidneys, and my back hurting me so much. I thought I would try your Swamp-Root and to my great astonishment, after using one bottle I expelled three gall stones which weighed 135 grains—just think of it. My kidneys are not well yet, and so I have continued to continue with Swamp-Root. Mr. Schwabe, the druggist, thought that I never was appendicitis and that the doctor had made a mistake. It was in fact gall stones that caused the trouble, or they would not have come away so soon after commencing with Swamp-Root.

My small son, Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root to all those who suffer from kidney, liver and bladder troubles and are very thankful that I have discovered such a speedy remedy. I feel confident that it will cure me entirely of all kidney and liver troubles.

MRS. MAJAY L. SCHMITTGER, Neenah City, Neb. Personally appeared before me this 31st day of August, 1909, Mrs. Mary J. Schmittger, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

A. P. YOUNG, County Clerk, Lucas County, Iowa.

Letter to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will contain a valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When you receive it, read it and mention the name of the family doctor. For sale at all drug stores. Price fifty cents and one-dollar.

WORK OF YEAR REVIEWED BY THE PRESIDENT

Affairs of State Are Dealt With at Length in Annual Message.

"The policy of broader and closer trade relations with the Dominion of Canada which was initiated in the adjustment of the maximum and minimum provisions of the tariff act of August, 1909, has proved mutually beneficial. It justifies further efforts for the readjustment of the commercial relations of the two countries so that their commerce may follow the channels natural to contiguous countries and be commensurate with the steady expansion of trade and industry on both sides of the boundary line."

Ship Subsidy.

The president urges such action as he believes will increase American trade abroad, and says:

"Another instrumentality indispensable to the unimpeded and natural development of American commerce is merchant marine. All maritime and commercial nations recognize the importance of this factor. The greatest commercial nations, our competitors, jealously foster their merchant marine. Perhaps nowhere is the need for rapid and direct mail, passenger and freight communication quite so urgent as between the United States and Latin America. We can secure, in no other quarter of the world such immediate benefits in friendship and commerce as would flow from the establishment of direct lines of communication with the countries of Latin America adequate to meet the requirements of a rapidly increasing appreciation of the reciprocal dependence of the countries of the western hemisphere upon each other's products, sympathies and assistance."

"I alluded to this most important subject in my last annual message; it has often been before you and I need not recapitulate the reasons for its recommendation. Unless prompt action be taken the completion of the"

Panama canal will find this the only great commercial nation unable to avail in international maritime business of this great contribution to the means of the world's commercial intercourse."

Governmental Expenses.

To no one subject does he devote more space than to the expense of conducting the various government departments and the urgent need for economy, and in this connection he says:

"Every effort has been made by each department chief to reduce the estimated cost of his department for the ensuing fiscal year ending June 30, 1912. I say this in order that congress may understand that these estimates thus made present the smallest sum which will maintain the departments, bureaus and offices of the government and meet its other obligations under existing law, and that a cut of these estimates would result in embarrassing the executive branch of the government in the performance of its duties. This remark does not apply to the river and harbor estimates, except to those for expenses of maintenance and the meeting of obligations under authorized contracts, nor does it apply to the public building bill nor to the navy building program. Of course, as to these congress could withhold any part or all of the estimates for them without interfering with the discharge of the ordinary obligations of these functions of its departments, bureaus and offices."

"The final estimates for the year ending June 30, 1912, as they have been sent to the treasury on November 29 of this year, for the ordinary expenses of the government, including those for public buildings, rivers and harbors, and the navy building program, amount to $430,494,013.12. This is $52,944,387.38 less than the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911. It is $16,883,153.44 less than the total estimates, including supplemental estimates submitted to congress by the treasury for the year 1911, and is $5,674,659.29 less than the original estimates submitted by the treasury for 1911."

"These figures do not include the appropriations for the Panama canal, the policy in respect to which ought to be, and is, to spend as much each year as can be economically and effectively expended in order to complete the canal as promptly as possible, and therefore, the ordinary motive for cutting down the expense of the government does not apply to appropriations for this purpose."

"Against the estimates of expenditures, $430,494,013.12, we have estimated receipts for next year $430,000,000, making a probable surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures of about $50,000,000, or taking into account the estimates for the Panama canal, which are $50,920,847.30, and which will ultimately be paid in bonds, it will leave a deficit for the next year of about $7,000,000, if congress shall conclude to fortify the canal."

The Tariff.

The president devotes but little space to the subject of the tariff law, and of it he says:

"The schedules of the rates of duty in the Payne tariff act have been subjected to a great deal of criticism, some of it just, more of it unfounded, and to much misrepresentation. The act was adopted in pursuance of a declaration by the party, which is consistent with the fact that customs will should be a tariff for the protection of home industries, the measure of the protection to be the difference between the cost of producing the imported article abroad and the cost of producing it at home, together with such addition to that difference as might give a reasonable profit to the home producer. The basis for the criticism of this tariff is that in respect to a number of the schedules the declared measure was not followed, but a higher difference retained or inserted by way of undue discrimination in favor of certain industries and manufactures. Little, if any, of the criticism of the tariff has been directed against the protective principle above stated; but the main body of the criticism has been based on the attempt to conform to the measure of protection was not honestly and sincerely adhered to."

The Tariff Board.

The president refers to the appointment of a board of experts to investigate the cost of production of various articles included in the schedules of the tariff, and says:

"The tariff board thus appointed and authorized has been diligent in preparing itself for the necessary investigations. The hope of those who have advocated the use of this board for tariff purposes is that the question of the rate of a duty imposed shall become more of a business question and less of a political question, to be ascertained by experts of long training and accurate knowledge. The bill in business and the shock to business, due to the announcement that a new tariff bill is to be proposed and put in operation will be avoided by treating the schedules one by one as occasion shall arise for a change in the rates of each, and only after a report upon the schedule by the tariff board competent to make such report. It is not likely that the board will be able to make a report during the present session of congress on any of the schedules, because a proper examination involves an enormous amount of detail and a great deal of care; but I hope to be able at the opening of the new congress, or at least during the session of that congress, to bring to the attention of the facts in regard to those schedules in the present tariff that may prove to need amendment."

Our Island Possessions.

"During the last summer, at my request, the secretary of war visited the Philippine islands and has described his trip in the report. He found the islands in a state of tranquility and growing prosperity, due largely to the change in the tariff laws, which has opened the markets of America to the products of the Philippines, and has opened the Philippine markets to American manufactures."

"The year has been one of prosperity and progress in Porto Rico."

Panama Canal.

"At the instance of Colonel Goethals, the army engineer officer in charge of the work on the Panama canal, I have just made a visit to the isthmus to inspect the work done and to consult with him on the ground as to certain problems which are likely to arise in the near future. The progress of the work is most satisfactory. If no unexpected obstacle presents itself, the canal will be completed well within the time fixed by Colonel Goethals, to wit, January 1, 1915, and within the estimate of cost, $375,000,000."

"Among questions arising for present solution is the decision whether the canal shall be fortified. I have already stated to the congress that I strongly favor fortification and I now reiterate this opinion and ask your consideration of the subject in the light of the report already before you made by a competent board."

"Another question which arises for consideration and possible legislation is the question of tolls in the canal. This question is necessarily affected by the probable tonnage which will go through the canal."

"In determining what the tolls should be we certainly ought not to insist that for a good many years to come they should amount to enough to pay the interest on the investment of $400,000,000 which the United States has made in the construction of the canal. We ought not to do this, first, because the benefits to be derived by the United States from this expenditure is not to be measured solely by a return upon the investment. If it were then the construction might well have been left to private enterprise."

"My own impression is that the tolls ought not to exceed $1 per net ton, and I should recommend that within certain limits the president be authorized to fix the tolls of the canal and adjust them to what seems to be commercial necessity."

"I cannot close this reference to the canal without suggesting as a wise amendment to the Interstate Commerce law a provision prohibiting interstate commerce railroads from owning or controlling ships engaged in the trade through the Panama canal. I believe such a provision may be needed to save to the people the competition in trade between the eastern and western seabards which this canal was constructed to secure."

Department of Justice.

Discussing the affairs of the department of justice, the president says:

"I invite especial attention to the prosecutions under the federal law of the so-called 'bucket shops,' and of those schemes to defraud in which the use of the mail is an essential part of the fraudulent conspiracy, prosecutions which have saved ignorant and weak members of the public and are saving them hundreds of millions of dollars. The violations of the anti-trust law present perhaps the most important litigation before the department, and the number of cases filed shows the activity of the government in enforcing that act."

"In a special message last year I brought to the attention of congress the propriety and wisdom of enacting a general law providing for the incorporation of industrial and other companies engaged in interstate commerce, and I renew my recommendation in that behalf."

"The crying need in the United States of cheapening the cost of litigation by simplifying judicial procedure and expediting final judgment is pointed out and action looking to correction of these evils is urged."

"The president recommends an increase in the salaries of federal judges."

Postal Savings Banks.

"At its last session congress made provision for the establishment of savings banks by the postoffice department of this government by which under general control of trustees, consisting of the postmaster general, the secretary of the treasury and the attorney general, the system could be begun in a few cities and towns, and enlarged to cover within its operations as many cities and towns and as large a part of the country as seemed wise. The initiation and establishment of such a system has required a great deal of study on the part of the experts in the postoffice and treasury departments, but a system has now been devised which is believed to be more economical and simpler in its operation than any similar system abroad. Arrangements have been perfected so that savings banks will be opened in some cities and towns on the 1st of January, and there will be a gradual extension of the benefits of the plan to the rest of the country."

"It is gratifying," says the president, "that the reduction in the postal deficit has been accomplished without any curtailment of postal facilities. On the contrary, the service has been greatly extended during the year in all its branches."

Second-Class Mail.

"In my last annual message I invited the attention of congress to the inadequacy of the postal rate imposed upon second-class mail matter in so far as that includes magazines, and showed by figures prepared by experts of the postoffice department that the government was rendering a service to the magazines, costing many millions in excess of the compensation paid. An answer was attempted to this by the representatives of the magazines, and a reply was filed to this answer by the postoffice department. The latter inadequacy of the answer, considered in the light of the reply of the postoffice department, I think must appeal to any fair-minded person. Whether the answer was all that could be said in behalf of the magazines is another question. I agree that the question is one of fact; but I insist that if the fact is as the experts of the postoffice department show, that we are furnishing to the owners of magazines a service worth millions more than they pay for it, then justice requires that the rate should be increased. The increase in the receipts of the department resulting from this change may be devoted to increasing the usefulness of the department in establishing a parcels post and in reducing the cost of first-class postage to one cent. It has been said by the postmaster general that a fair adjustment might be made under which the advertising part of the magazine should be charged for at a different and higher rate from that of the reading matter. This would relieve many useful magazines that are not circulated at a profit, and would not shut them out from the use of the mails by a prohibitory rate."

"With respect to the parcels post, I respectfully recommend its adoption on all rural delivery routes, and that 11 pounds—the international limit—be made the limit of carriage in such post."

Abolish Navy Yards.

The president calls attention to certain reforms urged by the secretary of the navy which he recommends for adoption, and continues:

"The estimates of the navy department are $5,000,000 less than the appropriations for the same purpose last year, and included in this is the building program of the same amount as that submitted for your consideration last year. It is merely carrying out the plan of building two battleships a year, with a few needed auxiliary vessels. I earnestly hope that this program will be adopted."

"The secretary of the navy has given personal examination to every navy yard, and has studied the uses of the navy yards with reference to the necessities of our fleet. With a fleet considerably less than half the size of that of the British navy, we have shipyards more than double the number, and there are several of these shipyards expensively equipped with modern machinery, which, after investigation the secretary of the navy believes to be entirely useless for naval purposes. He asks authority to abandon certain of them and to move their machinery to other places, where it can be made of use."

"The complete success of our country in Arctic exploration should not remain unnoticed. The unparalleled achievement of Peary in reaching the north pole, April 6, 1909, approved by critical examination of the most expert scientists, has added to the distinction of our navy, to which he belongs, and reflects credit upon his country. I recommend fitting recognition by congress of the great achievement of Robert Edwin Peary."

Conservation.

"The subject of the conservation of the public domain has commanded the attention of the people within the last two or three years."

"There is no need for radical reform in the methods of disposing of what are really agricultural lands. The present laws have worked well. The enlarged homestead law has encouraged the successful farming of lands in this semi-arid region."

"Nothing can be more important in the matter of conservation than the treatment of our forest lands. It was probably the ruthless destruction of forests in the older states that first called attention to the necessity for a halt in the waste of our resources."

"In the present forest reserves there are lands which are not properly forested, and which ought to be subject to homestead entry. This has caused some local irritation. We are carefully eliminating such lands from forest reserves or where their elimination is not practical looking them for entry under the forest homestead act."

"Congress ought to trust the executive to use the power of reservation only with respect to land most valuable for forest purposes. During the present administration, 62,250,000 acres of land largely non-timbered, have been excluded from forest reserves, and 3,500,000 acres of land principally valued for forest purposes have been included in forest reserves, making a reduction in forest reserves of non-timbered land amounting to 2,750,000 acres."

Coal Lands.

"The next subject, and one most important for your consideration, is the disposition of the coal lands in the United States and Alaska. At the beginning of this administration there were withdrawn from entry for purposes of classification 17,867,000 acres. Since that time there have been withdrawn by my order for entry for classification 78,977,745 acres, making a total withdrawal of 96,844,745 acres. Mention of the acres thus withdrawn 1,041,889 have been classified and found not to contain coal and have been restored to agricultural entry, and 4,726,091 acres have been classified as coal lands; while 7,993,239 acres remain withdrawn from entry, and await classification. In addition, 337,000 acres have been classified as coal lands without prior withdrawal, thus increasing the classified coal lands to 10,429,372 acres."

"Under the laws providing for the disposal of coal lands in the United States, the minimum price at which lands are permitted to be sold is $10 an acre; but the secretary of the interior has the power to fix a maximum price and to sell at that price."

"As one-third of all the coal supply is held by the government, it seems wise that it should retain such control over the mining and the sale as the relation of lessor to lessee furnishes."

"The secretary of the interior thinks there are difficulties in the way of leasing public coal lands, which objections he has set forth in his report, the force of which I freely concede. I entirely approve his stating at length in his report of the objections in order that the whole subject may be presented to congress, but after a full consideration, for the reasons I have given above, I favor a leasing system and recommend it."

Water Power Sites.

"Prior to March 4, 1909, there had been, on the recommendation of the reclamation service, withdrawn from agricultural entry, because they were regarded as useful for power sites which ought not to be disposed of as agricultural lands, tracts amounting to about 4,000,000 acres. The withdrawals were mainly made and included a great deal of land that was not useful for power sites. They were intended to include the power sites on 28 rivers in 9 states. Since that time 3,475,442 acres have been restored for settlement of the original 4,000,000 because they do not contain power sites; and meantime, new withdrawals have been made which, with other restorations based upon field examination, result in withdrawals at present effective of 1,218,355 acres on vacant public land and 292,197 acres on entered public land, or a total of 1,420,553 acres. These withdrawals made from time to time cover all the power sites included in the first withdrawals and many more, on 151 rivers and in 12 states. The disposition of these power sites involves one of the most difficult questions presented in carrying out practical conservation."

"The subject is one that calls for new legislation. It has been thought that there was danger of combination to obtain possession of all the power sites and to unite them under one control. Whatever the evidence of this, or lack of it, at present we have had enough experience to know that combination would be profitable, and the control of a great number of power sites will be within certain sections."

"However this may be, it is the plain duty of the government to see to it that in the utilization and development of all this immense amount of water power, conditions shall be imposed that will prevent extortionate charges, which are the usual accompaniment of monopoly."

"The question of conservation is not a partisan one, and I sincerely hope that even in the short time of the present session consideration may be given to those questions which have now been much discussed, and that action may be taken upon them."

Alaska.

"With reference to the government of Alaska, I have nothing to add to the recommendations I made in my last message on the subject. I am convinced that the migratory character of the population, its unequal distribution, and its smallness of number, which the new census shows to be about 50,000, in relation to the enormous expanse of the territory, make it altogether impracticable to give to those people who are in Alaska today and may not be there a year hence, the power to elect a legislature to govern an immense territory to which they have relation so little permanent."

Pensions.

"The uniform policy of the government in the matter of granting pensions to those gallant and devoted men who fought to save the life of the nation in the perilous days of the great civil war, has always been of the most liberal character. Those men are now rapidly passing away."

"The 208,000 obtainable soldiers' statistics show that they are dying at the rate of something over three thousand a month, and, in view of their advancing years, this rate must inevitably in proportion, rapidly increase. To the man who risked everything on the field of battle to save the nation in the hour of its direst need we owe a debt which has not been and should not be computed in a begrudging or parsimonious spirit."

Bureau of Corporations.

Referring to the report of the commissioner of corporations, the president says:

"The commissioner finds a condition in the ownership of the standing timber of the United States other than the government timber that calls for serious attention. The direct investigation made by the commissioner covered an area which contains 80 per cent. of the privately-owned timber of the country."

"His report shows that one half of the timber in this area is owned by 200 individuals and corporations; that 14 per cent. is owned by these corporations, and that there is very extensive inter-ownership of stock, as well as other circumstances, all pointing to friendly relations among those who own a majority of this timber, a relationship which might lead to a combination for the maintenance of a price that would be very detrimental to the public interest, and would create the necessity of removing all tariff obstacles to the free importations of lumber from other countries."

Bureau of Labor.

"The commissioner of labor has been actively engaged in composing the differences between employers and employees engaged in interstate transportation, under the Erdman act, jointly with the chairman of the interstate commerce commission."

"I cannot speak in too high terms of the success of the two officers in conciliation and settlement of controversies which, but for their interposition, would have resulted disastrously to all interests."

Civil Service Commission.

"The civil service commission has continued its useful duties during the year. The necessity for the maintenance of the provisions of the civil service law was never greater than today. Officers responsible for the policy of the administration, and their immediate personal assistants or deputies, should not be included within the classified service, but in my judgment, public opinion has advanced to the point where it would support a bill providing a secure tenure during efficiency for all purely administrative officials. I entertain the profound conviction that it would greatly aid the cause of efficient and economical government and of better politics if congress could enact a bill providing that the executive shall have the power to include in the classified service all local officers under the treasury department, the department of justice, the postoffice department, the interior department and the department of commerce and labor, appointments to which now require the confirmation of the senate, and that upon such classification the advice and consent of the senate shall cease to be required in such appointments. By their certainty of tenure, dependent on good service, and by their freedom from the necessity for political activity, these local officers would be induced to become more efficient public servants."

Economy and Efficiency.

"The increase in the activities and in the annual expenditures of the federal government has been so rapid and so great that the time has come to check the expansion of government activities in new directions until we have tested the economy and efficiency with which the government of today is being carried on. The responsibility rests upon the head of the administration. He is held accountable by the public, and properly so. Despite the unselfish and patriotic efforts of the heads of departments and others charged with responsibility of government, there has grown up in this country a conviction that the expenses of government are too great. The fundamental reason for the existence undetected of waste, duplication, and bad management is the lack of prompt, accurate information."

"I have requested the head of each department to appoint committees on economy and efficiency in order to secure full cooperation in the movement by the employees of the government themselves."

"I urge the continuance of the appropriation of $100,000 requested for the fiscal year 1912."

"My experience leads me to believe that while government methods are much criticized, the bad results—if we do have bad results—are not due to a lack of zeal or willingness on the part of the civil servants."

Interstate Commerce.

"There has not been time to testify the benefit and utility of the amendments to the interstate commerce law contained in the act approved June 13, 1910. The law as enacted did not contain all the features which I recommended. It did not specifically denounce as unlawful the purchase by one of two parallel and competing roads of the stock of the other. Nor did it subject to the restraining influence of the interstate commerce commission the power of corporations engaged in operating interstate railroads to issue new stock and bonds; nor did it authorize the making of temporary agreements between railroads limited to 30 days, fixing the same rates for traffic between the same places."

"I do not press the consideration of any of these objects upon congress at this session."

"The interstate commerce commission has recommended appropriations for the purpose of enabling it to enter upon a valuation of all railroads. This has always been within the jurisdiction of the commission, but the requisite money has not been wanted; statistics to the value of each railroad would be valuable for many purposes, especially if we ultimately enact any limitations upon the power of the interstate railroads to issue stocks and bonds, as I hope we may."

"For the protection of our own people and the preservation of our credit in foreign trade, I urge upon congress the immediate enactment of a law under which one who, in good faith, advances money or credit upon a bill of lading issued by a common carrier upon an interstate or foreign shipment can hold the carrier liable for the value of the goods described in the bill, at least to the extent of the advances made in reliance upon it."

"I further recommend that a punishment of fine and imprisonment be imposed upon railroad agents and shippers for fraud or misrepresentation in connection with the issue of bills of lading issued upon interstate and foreign shipments."

"Except as above, I do not recommend any amendment to the interstate commerce law as it stands. I do not now recommend any amendment to the anti-trust law. In other words, it seems to me that the existing legislation with reference to the regulation of corporations and the restraint of their business has reached a point where we can stop for a while and witness the effect of the vigorous execution of the laws of the statute books in restraining the abuses which certainly do exist and which rouse the public to demand reform."

JOCKEY CLUB BRIEFLY DENIED BY BELMONT

Funds Used to Fight Against Anti-Racing Bills Spent Legitimately, He Says.

New York, Dec. 6.—August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, in a letter to M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel for the legislative investigating committee before which Mr. Belmont was a witness last week, declared he had "never directly or indirectly, in person or through any corporation or individuals, contributed, authorized or advised the expenditure of a single dollar to improperly influence legislative action."

F. K. Sturges, treasurer of the Jockey club, at the same time made public a letter, stating that he was in error when he testified recently that James W. Wadsworth, Jr., speaker of the state assembly, recommended as counsel for the racing interests E. T. Coyne. This recommendation, he adds, came from the elder Wadsworth, state commissioner of racing."

Mr. Belmont says about $400,000 was expended by the club, but that it was spent for legitimate expenses and chiefly for legal services. He ends his letter by offering to aid the committee in any way in his power and to appear before it again if wanted to preclude any opportunity for a misunderstanding as to his acts in regard to racing."

Truce on Illinois Patronage.

Washington, Dec. 6.—An agreement has been made by Senators Cullom and Lorimer that the Illinois federal patronage subject shall not be touched until the Lorimer investigating committee has made its report.

Really Neat Rebuke.
William Russell, discussing the importance of dress, was reminded of an anecdote. "I know," she said, "of only one occasion where dress wasn't the most important thing of all. It was at a Saratoga hotel, and we had arranged, a certain small set of us, to have a distinctly smart ball after the races. There was an Englishman at the hotel, one of those Englishmen who don't know their place, and the morning of the ball he came to me and said: 'I here there's a ball tonight. Isn't it jolly? But, I say, is fancy dress do rigueur?' 'No, Lord Lachout,' said I, 'fancy dress is not do rigueur, but an invitation to.'"
